[art:screen fest]

5 - 7 October 2012

'art:screen fest' is a festival whose main concept is to invite curators from different video art events and festivals from around the world to curate screening programmes. And to provide an international platform for networking and co-operation possibilities between curators.

This years festival offers 16 screening programmes, 5 video installations and one work-shop run by the Swedish artist couple Stina Pehrson and Niclas Hallberg. The festival also offers 2 official lectures focusing on artist-run initiatives by the curators Emeka Ogboh from Nigeria and Wilfried Agricola de Cologne from Germany, which will provide insights into today's world of video art and moving image.

During the festival there will be a Web TV studio run by Christian Immonen and Stefan Bedin, Sweden reporting from the festival activities, that could be follow through a mobile phone, Ipad and PC.

The festival is organized by 'art:screen' which is a platform that showcases contemporary video art and moving image from Swedish and international artists. 'art:screen' is for many artists, the window for showing their work in Sweden and Europe.
